A PROFESSIONAL PATHWAY

The two-year Haute Couture Pattern Making and Garment Construction course is intended for those who wish to develop advanced practical skills in pattern making and luxury tailoring.

During the first year, students learn moulage pattern making for the three-dimensional creation of patterns, starting with basic garments and progressing to more complex shapes. The programme also introduces industrial pattern making and the use of CAD-CAM and CLO3D for managing patterns on a computer.

The second year focuses on tailoring construction, with a practical approach in which students learn the artisanal techniques of Couture garment construction and broaden their knowledge of the product by working with knitwear, embroidery and other artisanal techniques. At the end of each year, a final examination allows students to prepare personal materials to present.
