A PROFESSIONAL PATHWAY

This course is designed for anyone who wishes to specialise in Haute Couture pattern making, even without any basic preparation.

It provides comprehensive training to develop professional skills in garment pattern making.

The programme is centred on the moulage method, a technique that makes it possible to create patterns directly on the mannequin while working in three dimensions.

Students learn to create basic garments and clothing components, later developing them into more complex projects. Eighty per cent of the programme is dedicated to couture pattern making, before extending to industrial pattern making using the method of the Istituto Secoli in Milan. The course includes seminars on the use of Lectra CAD-CAM and CLO3D software.

Classes begin in September.
