Students are encouraged to create Haute Couture garments of high tailoring quality. Training covers everything from creating patterns directly on the dress form to developing a sample toile for fitting and corrections, and finally applying the most refined tailoring techniques. These include decoration, hand frame embroidery, pleating, printing and knitwear, as well as skills in millinery (hat making) and glove making.

Upon completion of the course, students become well-rounded professionals capable of designing and producing Haute Couture garments and collections, together with their related accessories, according to the high quality standards required by the industry.
